

I am writing to persuade you not to let LPFM stations take priority over current FM translator service. I am a devoted listener of K-LOVE, a nationally broadcast station heard on different translators. My family and I listen only to K-LOVE because it is wholesome and I don't ever have to worry that my children will hear something I don't want them to hear. There are too many stations out there squaking noise, with gruff, angry, inappropriate, or sexually suggestive songs and djs. Mainstream and popular music is full of subject matter I don't want to have to censor or explain to my children. K-LOVE is dependably rated "G" in everything that goes over the air. The music and conversations are uplifting and encouraging. It is in the public interest to allow K-LOVE to continue to broadcast to all its current translators because similar choices in content are very rare. In providing the programming of K-LOVE you are keeping the marketplace open to all people to make the choice about what they listen to. PLEASE do NOT replace K-LOVE with LPFM stations! We would have to turn off the radio completely.
